

HÖEGH AUTOLINERS

Dear valued customer,

Brown Marmorated Stink Bug (BMSB) Season

Department of Agriculture and Fisheries and Forestry (DAFF) and Ministry of Primary Industries (MPI) have issued the official regulations for import of cargo during BMSB season

This year's BMSB season is in effect from shipment date 01 September to arrival date 30 April for New Zealand. For Australia the season is in effect between Departure 01 September until departure date 30 April. All cargo from following high-risk countries must be treated prior to shipment either by fumigation or heat.

Cargo to Australia with a valid NUFT declaration is exempted from treatment if production commenced after 01 December. NUFT is not applicable for cargoes produces in countries marked with blue above. NUFT is only applicable for Australia.

Between 01 September and 01 December, all cargo for Australia and New Zealand must be delivered to their respective loading port minimum 120 hours prior to start of operation unless otherwise agreed with Höegh Autoliners or its local agents. For project cargo, the full project must be delivered by 120 hours to ensure enough time for both stuffing and treatment. If cargo is unavailable, Höegh Autoliners cannot guarantee that cargo can be shipped on earliest departure thus might be subject to rescheduling in accordance with our planning.

We kindly remind all customers that it is the shipper's sole responsibility and risk that the cargo presented for shipment is sufficiently clean to the satisfaction of the requirements of the countries of loading, transshipment if any, and discharging. The shipper will be held liable for any costs, expenses and loss arising in respect of any breach of these warranties, including but not limited to all cost related to secondary treatment caused by cargo being treated outside the 120 hour period for whatever reason.

As in previous years, treatment is available in all major Höegh Autoliners port of loading in Europe. Please refer to your local customer service contact and/or local agent for additional information.
